Whole House Remodel

1160 Heather Way, Ann Arbor

This project was a collaboration between MBK Constructors, Lewis Greenspoon Architects and Bonnie Wu Design. This well-kept mid-century ranch, built in 1959, needed to shake off its distinctly 90's interior. The concept was to convert it to a modern family-friendly house by creating a spacious living room connected to the kitchen, adding a functional mudroom and master suite.

Additionally, we reclaimed square footage in a too-large den, remodeled all bathrooms and improved lighting throughout. Keeping the era of the house in mind, we used materials and finishes appropriate to the original style while also trying to inject a hip vibe. The "cool" factor is highlighted by the custom designed rebut linear gas fireplace in the main living area.
