This classic 1920s Tudor-style home had previously received a one-story addition that left it feeling unbalanced. Our clients envisioned a more harmonious design that would include a new primary suite. By thoughtfully adding a second story—without disturbing the existing first floor—we restored the home's proportions and elevated its timeless elegance.

The new primary suite features a cozy, traditionally appointed bedroom with a sloped ceiling, custom casework, a fireplace directly in front of the bed, and a charming sitting area perfect for reading. Connected to this retreat is a spacious en-suite bathroom and walk-in closet, beautifully finished with marble tile, stained Cherry cabinetry, and satin brass accessories—bringing together warmth, craftsmanship, and timeless comfort.
