Reimagined Mid-Century Remodel & Multiple Additions

ABOUT THE PROJECT

This mid-century split-level underwent a dramatic reimagining, inside and out. With multiple front doors, a cramped kitchen, and a disjointed floor plan, the home lacked clarity, storage, and connection. Our clients wanted better flow, a larger garage, and a modern, welcoming vibe that reflected their lifestyle.

We tackled the challenge with two bold additions: one at the front for an expanded garage and mudroom, and another at the rear to introduce a sun-filled family room. We also relocated the kitchen to the center of the home, transforming it into a true hub - open, light-filled, and perfect for entertaining.

Outside, we redefined the home's curb appeal by layering new rooflines, adding a covered porch, and giving the façade a modern identity with vertical siding and warm wood details. The result is a cohesive, functional, and beautiful transformation that reimagines how a split-level can live.

Step inside and see what's possible when design and construction come together seamlessly. This home tells a story, and your home could be next.
